Another Dull Week on the Wall Street Exchanges.

IS READILY ACCOUNTED FOR.

JULY DIVIDENDS HAVE NO PER-CEPTIBLE EFFECT ON THE MARKET-IMPORTANT INVEST-MENT DEMANDS-THE INFLU-ENCE OF THE PRESENT WAR ON THE VARIOUS STOCKS-CONDI-TION OF THE WOOL MARKET.

Special Correspondence of Intelligencer. NEW YORK, July 16.—We have had another week of duliness in Wall street. At the moment, the elements of a really active market do not appear to exist This is one of the months of recreation; and although comparatively few are in-dulging European travel, the summer hotels are full of visitors, including an unusual representation of the financial class. The operators in stocks appear to have reached the conclusion that atter such an excited market as we have had during recent months, a reaction of quiet was to be expected. They have reasoned that the army campaign is not likely to reach any additional victories during the hot months, but may be reasonably expected to culminate in during the hot months, but may be reasonably expected to culminate in an early peace. Thus the expectation has become general that, as the military campaign and the Wall street movement run on parallel lines, we may not expect any bouyant activity in either for the next few weeks.

It is mainly for these reasons that the large July interest and dividend disbursements have had no marked effect upon the market. This source of reinvestment might have been made the occasion for a rise in prices had a few strong operators chosen to turn it to account; but that class of speculators seem to be still out off ne market and hoping for a lower range of prices. Nevertheless, there has been, during the week, an important investment demand from this source, which has fallen mainly upon the gilt edge dividend-paying stocks and railroad bonds. In the larter, the transactions have been conspicuously large, with the result of a general advance in prices. In anticipation of the government loan, holders of railroad bonds sold out freely, with the intention of reinvesting in the new bonds; and now that they see the sovernment issues divided between the popular subscriptions and the financial institutions, they have had to repurchase the class of securities with which they had parted. This has some significable for the future of stocks; for a rise in corporate bonds is always conducter to higher prices in the share market.

While the stock market is comparatively stagnant and speculation is lifeless, there is no abatement of its intrinsic strength. Stocks are well held, and holders appear condident in a higher range of prices when the summer absences return and the war has entered on the peace phase.

irinaic strength. Stocks are wen and and holders appear confident in a higher range of prices when the summer absences return and the war has entered on the peace phase.

The latter condition may easily prove to be much nearer than is now generally supposed. The surrender of the Spanish army at Santiago and its transportation home by American vessels is a most significant event. It is a humiliation to Spain which tells more plainly than words can the weaknes of her hold on Cuba and her despair of military success. She consents to the withdrawal of the Santiago aoldiers which she had counted upon for the defense of the island and the final struggle at Havana. She enables us to utilize all her armaments at Santiago and saves us from the loss of men and arms which might have resulted from our having to take that position by force. She at the same time fatulty weakens herself and saves and strengthens our fighting resources. She does this in spite of the protests of General Blanco and of her troops, and notwithstanding the danser of raising serious political troubles in Spain. A surrender under such conditions admits of but one possible construction. It means that official Spain, which knows the actual condition and numbers of the army, has no hope whatever of succeeding in this struggle, and after an imposing show of national pride, is at last yielding to humane consideration for her undoubtedly brave soldiers. This cannot be regarded as anything less than a first and also a long step towards peace. As between the Spanish government and the Spanish government and the spanish government and the people of Spain. If the government is custalized by popular approval, this first step may be soon followed by further advances towards heave; though it inspet towards peace; though it is possible that political confusion or the infaint momentarily post-pone the possibility of ending the war, In any case, the surrender at Santlago means a farge progress towards peace; though it is possible that political confusion or the infa Bradstreet's: The demand is yef quiet, but more inquiry is noted and some large-sized sales have helped out the week's business. About 700,000 pounds South American one-quarter blood and Lincoln cross breeds were picked up in Boston this week at 23½ by a Philadelphia manufacturer. A fair amount of territory wools was also taken this week, about 500,000 pounds, while unwashed fleeces were sold to the extent of about 400,000 pounds. The price for one-quarter, three-eighth and one-half blood unwashed fleece ranges from 216/23c, the latter being for choice light lines. About 350,000 pounds scoured wool were taken on the basis of former sales. Prices are steadily maintained in the face of a dull demand, and no one is disposed to press sales. Australian wool yet holds firm, about 550,000 pounds being taken this week, while many sample lots have been sold that may result in business later. Carpet wools are dull.

As the two yessels got under way, the cheering increased in volume and to the accompaniment of bundreds of steam whistles and the firing of bombs and cannon, the two vessels proceeded slowly down the bay, past the water front and out to sea.

The soldlers on the transports growded into the risging and answered the cheering of the civilians with hearty good will and responded to the dipping flags of the merchant vessels by waving their hats and handkerchiefs.

Long before dusk the last good-bye had been said to the departing vessels from the decks of the tug boats and the heavilg laden transports proceeded on their was to Honolulu, where they will go to participate in the amexation ceremonies and to take on fresh provisions and re-fill their coal bunkers.

FIRENCE AND TRADE

NEW YORK, July 16.-Wall street apparently remained unconvinced to day that values of securities had been increased by the capitulation of Santiago, and prices stubbornly refused to ward tendency of Americans in London was viewed with apathy and the few was viewed with apathy and the few advanced at the opening here were not up to the London parity. The accumulated orders in commission houses were of very small volume, the outside public being apparently taken up with other interests than speculation in stocks. The bears were confident and progressive, and were prompt to take advantage of the absence of buying demand to attack the market. Sugar was the first point of attack and the prical yielded quite readily, but only small quantities of stock were disloged by the decline. The weakness of the coalers, which had persisted all week continued a marked feature. There is no doubt there has been liquidation of long stock in these companies on account of accumulated troubles of trade. There is but a sluggish demand for even the curtailed output, and the companies find themselves at odds over the maintenance of prices and division of territory. The plans for the construction of a new road from the anthractic region to fidewater had a further unsettling effect. Delaware and Hudson was easily forced down 2½ per cent and Reading first preferred and New Jersey Central also suffered material declines. The bears were also busy with Manhattan. There was an obvious increase The bears were also busy with Man-hatian. There was an obvious increase in the short account and no apparent in the short account and no apparent effort to cover it over Sunday. The bank statement is not readily analyzed. The decrease in cash of $4,949,900 is practically all accounted for by the gains of the sub-treasury during the week on account of the bond subscriptions. The governments gain on this account are not reflected in the deposit average of the banks as was the case last week. The loan expansion is considerably curtailed, but still reflects a good business situation. The legal reserve requirement is very little changed by reason of the small decrease in deposits so that the decline in cash is almost all reflected in the decrease of surplus.

deposits so that the decline in cash is almost all reflected in the decrease of surplus.

The government crop report caused some depression, owing to declines in condition compared with the previous month, in spite of a high average compared with former years and on estimated crop exceeding 600,000,000 hushels of wheat. The hesitation of the stock market is due in no small part to the enormous exports and the high prices of last year with which comparisons for this year will have to be made.

United States old 4s coupon declined 14, the new 4s coupon one; the 5s coupon 3; per cent; do registered and new 4s registered ½ per cent and the old 4s registered ½ per cent and

The increasing receipts of the The increasing receipts of the new crop and excellent weather for harvesting and threshing, together with disappointing cables, started wheat weak. The decline was chacked by the strength developed in corn during the first fifteen minutes. Every time the wheat market attempted to start downward on its own account, something would happen in corn to make it forget its troubles and join the improving fortunes of its now lively neighbor. September wheat had worked down to stee about thirty minutes before the close, but just then corn made its most telling advance and wheat responded by a half cent a bushel recovery.

Chleago received 79 carloads, of which 77 were new. Minneapolts and Duluth together received 44 cars, compared with 578 the corresponding day of the year before. The day's clearness of wheat and flour from Allantic perts were equal to 400,000 bushels. Beerbohms estimated world's shipments of wheat and flour for the week to Europe at 4,800,000 bushels, compared with 4,026,000 bushels last the close.

Sentiment in corn was stimulated by the continued dry weather. Prices started rather easier than at the close yesterday and when September had declined to 33c, a good deal was for sale on stop loss orders. There were plenty of buyers, however, around that price and after absorbing all the offerings the demand was still unsatisfied. There was a reaction on realizing of profits but the weakness did not last long and was more than recovered on induential buying by the buill leaders. September started unchanged to 4c lower at 3346 333c, declined to 32563c, up to 3346 and settled took to 33563c, recovered to 34c and settled took to 33563c, recovered to 34c and settled took to 335634c asked at the close.

Oats followed corn but did not display nearly as much strength as its leader. There was good buying early and September rose to 20c, but offerings wer so liberal at this price that the market reacted. September started 4c higher at 1346194c, advanced to 20c, encited to 195c, then raillied to 195c at the close.

reacted to 19%c, then rallied to 19%c at the close.

Higher prices for hogs at the yards and a fair demand started provisions strong. The early advance was more than lost on general selling by packers. September pork opened 2½c higher at $10 67½, deckined to 39 95, then rose to $10 00 at the close. The range in land and ribe was inconsequential.

Export goods have made a fair showing during the week and exporters manifested continued interest in the market. Coarse colored cottons are quiet, though firm. Financis and blankets show satisfactory results. Printed goods show no change in any grade. Fall fancies, are the subject of good average mail orders. Staples are fairless.
